

Dickie Skelton Quietly Goes To Meeting With 'Big Man'

By James Bacon
HOLLYWOOD — "Daddy, will you get mama that red blanket for Mothers Day? I don't suppose they'd let me out of here with this cut on my leg."

Thus did little Richard Skelton die of leukemia Saturday night at the UCLA Medical Center, thinking about his mother.

Comic Red Skelton was standing in Richard's room at home less than an hour after the nine-year-old boy's death from leukemia — a death that had been foreshadowed for more than a year. Richard's toys, a favorite camera and other paraphernalia common to boys was scattered about the room.

"We had asked him if he wanted a party for his birthday on May 20," said Red. "He said no, all he wanted was a cookout with two or three of his friends — so I brought him the Sears, Roebuck catalogue and he picked out a tent and some camping equipment—and the red blanket."

The cut on his leg referred to an incision made for blood transfusions. His veins had been punctured too much with a long series of daily transfusions over past weeks. Although he was never told of the seriousness of his illness Richard apparently knew death was near. When his sister Valentina, 11, climbed on a footstool to kiss him goodbye, he murmured:

"You'd better hurry up."

Minutes later a final hemorrhage sent him into a coma. That was about 7:30 p.m. His mother, Georgia, said he awakened briefly an hour later and whispered:

"I can't see. Everything is fuzzy."

At 8:35 p.m. he died.

Georgia and Red, steeled against the tragedy for over a year, sat in the hospital room with their dead son for over a half-hour quietly weeping. Then they went home.

"I had to sit there and cry," said Georgia. "Richard wouldn't let me cry before. He always chided me if I came in to see him with my eyes red."

Valentina had returned home before her brother died. When the parents returned to the big Bel-Air manse, the family doctor told the girl:

"I wonder what the Big Man looks like," the doctor quoted Valentina. "Richard knows now."

Then she added:

"By the Big Man I mean God."

Skelton told of one last wish the boy had made Saturday.

"The highlight of his life was our audience with the Pope last year, so he asked me if I could get him a crucifix blessed by His Holiness."

Bo Roos, Skelton's longtime business manager, cabled Father Edward Bates, an American priest stationed in the Vatican. A cable came back that the mission was accomplished.

"Richard seemed happy when I told him that the crucifix was on its way by air. It was wonderful of His Holiness to take the time out of his busy schedule for our boy."

The crucifix was enroute over the polar route from Copenhagen as Richard died. Red said it will be entombed with the boy.

By Richard's bed was a little overnight case, his parents had given him for Christmas. Georgia opened it. In it were clean underwear, socks and a toothbrush.

"He packed it himself last week before he went to the hospital," said Mrs. Skelton. "He said, 'Mama, you never know when we'll be leaving on a trip. It's best to be ready.'"

Red cried at that and turned toward the door. Georgia followed and started to turn off the light switch. As she looked around at the toys, the happy pictures on the wall, the little stuffed dog that had been his constant bed companion since he was six, she pulled back her arm.

"No," she said, "I can't turn off that light. I don't want it dark in here, not tonight."

White House Welcomes Russia's Agreement

Khrushchev Text Featured In Broadcast

LONDON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev said in a message to President Eisenhower published yesterday that the Soviet Union is ready to negotiate on ways to assure that any world agreement on ending nuclear tests is properly enforced.

Radio Moscow quote Khrushchev as saying the Soviet Union "agrees to have either side appoint experts who would immediately start studying the means of detecting possible violations of the agreement ending nuclear tests."

One provision was made by the Soviet Premier — "that work should be completed in the shortest term agreed upon beforehand."

Broadcast
Moscow broadcast a summary of the message delivered in Washington Saturday. This replied to a letter from Eisenhower April 28 urging Soviet support of the American proposal for an arctic inspection plan aimed at forestalling surprise attacks.

Radio Moscow said the Soviet Premier expressed regret that the United States and Britain have carried on with testing nuclear weapons in the last few days.

Khrushchev described the Soviet's decision to end nuclear tests unilaterally as a "first practical step toward a termination of the atomic weapons race."

The Soviet Premier said his government was agreeing to talk about controls over any agreement to end tests "in spite of its serious doubts."

He urged Eisenhower "to support the Soviet initiative in ending nuclear tests, thus making possible the solution of the problem once and for all, which is so ardently desired by the peoples of the world."

The broadcast summary said: "Khrushchev's message says that since the President regards as very important the work of experts in studying technical details pertaining to the control over the implementation of an agreement ending nuclear tests, the U.S.S.R., in spite of its serious doubts, is prepared to try out that way as well."

Khrushchev expressed regret that the United States and Britain have carried on nuclear weapons tests in the last few days. He declared ending of tests by the three H-bomb powers would place the Soviet Union and its allies at a disadvantage in comparison with the United States and the Atlantic Alliance powers. He said, however, the Soviet Union had unilaterally ended its tests because it was "desirous of making the first practical step toward a termination of the atomic weapons race."

Reds Hurl Warning At Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev has angrily warned the Yugoslav Communists to get into step with the rest of the Communist world under Moscow's orders, sources close to the Soviet Embassy said yesterday.

Official confirmation was lacking. But the warning against the Yugoslav independent communism was reported to be in a letter brought by Soviet Ambassador Ivan Zamchovsky when he returned from Moscow Saturday.

The ambassador also brought the news that the Soviet Union has postponed indefinitely President Klement Voroshilov's visit to Yugoslavia.

Some here said Zamchovsky has already delivered Khrushchev's letter to Vice President Aleksander Rankovic.

Solidarity At Stake
The Soviet Premier and party leader is said to have written President Tito and his aides that the solidarity of the Communist world is at stake unless Yugoslavia aligns itself openly with the Kremlin-dominated bloc.

One Killed, 43 Injured In Tennessee Accident Between Truck, Junior High Bus

FAYETTEVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A school bus load of junior high pupils from Alabama and a pickup truck collided near here early yesterday, killing one person and injuring 43.

The dead man was Ralph Reed, 27, editor of the weekly Arab, Ala. Tribune. He was the husband of Mrs. Martha Jean Reed, junior class sponsor of the Union Grove, Ala., Junior High School.

School. He had accompanied the class to Nashville for Saturday's performance of the Grand Ole Opry.

The injured included 38 children in the bus, two of whom are in critical condition, the bus driver and three other adults who were accompanying them and the driver of the truck.

Serious Condition
Truck driver Marvin Hollis Burns, 31, Florence, Ala., was in serious condition in a Fayetteville hospital where the injured were brought.

The Tennessee highway patrol took a sample of Burns' blood to Nashville for testing. No charges were placed immediately.

"I saw it was going to happen when the truck, northbound, veered into our southbound lane," said Silan Graves Berry, 54, Gunterville, Ala.

"Then in a split second it did happen. The truck hit us on our left just behind my driver's seat. The road was on a straightaway at that point. It had rained earlier in the night but had stopped."

"I've been driving school buses 18 years and this is the first time I've been involved in an accident," Burns was still dazed in mid-morning and unable to talk.

Both vehicles were demolished.

Overflowing
The Lincoln County Hospital in Fayetteville was filled to overflowing with the injured.

Wayland Colley, principal of the school, his wife, Mrs. Hazel Colley, and their son, Sidney, 14, were among the injured.

Western Party Leads In Greece
ATHENS (Monday) (AP) — Greece elected a Parliament yesterday to serve for the next four years. The pro-Western party of ex-Premier Constantine Karamanlis held a steady lead in counting off returns early today.

A communist-line party, the EDA, showed surprising strength. It ran second in the early returns, but dropped into third place with more than a third of the precincts reported.

The vote, with 3,036 precincts reporting out of 8,828, gave Karamanlis' National Radical Union 459,901 out of a total 1,089,804. The pro-Western Liberals, running second as expected, had 246,416. The Moscow-oriented EDA, the Union of the Democratic Left, was third with 238,363. The Center Progressive Agrarian Union drew 35,188. Other votes were scattered.

Hold Steady
As the returns piled up, votes for the rightist National Radical Union held steadily at about 40 per cent of the total.

Interior Minister Nicholas Liapopoulos, who is in charge of the election, said on the basis of returns at midnight that Karamanlis' party should take at least 160 of the 300 seats.

Parade Marks Three-Day Celebration

By Don Allen
AN estimated 16,000 persons visited Tobyhanna Signal Depot displays in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg Saturday as Tobyhanna Days closed. This brought the three-day total to 42,000 visitors.

Crowds lined the streets of both boroughs for a parade of military units, electronic equipment, floats and pretty girls.

Judging of entries in the model contest highlighted the afternoon program.

First prize for entries not made with a kit went to Douglas Strouse of 268 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

Winners who used kits were Thad and Randy Janusz, 90 Smith St., East Stroudsburg first; Bob Schmidt, 203 Grove St., East Stroudsburg, second, and Jeff Fredenberg, Stroudsburg, third.

All other entrants were awarded special prizes.

Retrievers of missiles, fired during the observance, who received prizes from participating merchants, were:

Helen Fetherman, 57 S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg; Daniel Fetherman, 14, of 57 S. Courtland St.; Michael Nordmark, 16, of 18 Elm St., East Stroudsburg; Oscar Goucher, 10, of 106 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg; Boyd Butz, five, of 145 S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

John Norris, 117 Lenox Ave., East Stroudsburg; Richard Courtright, 51 Ransbury Ave., East Stroudsburg; Jack LaBar, Delaware Water Gap; Edna Lee, 14 N. Fourth St., Stroudsburg; Ray Davies, Jr., 115 Elizabeth St., Stroudsburg; Dud Flanagan, East Stroudsburg.

East Stroudsburg
Robert J. Roberts, 335 Monroe St., East Stroudsburg; John Schnaitman, Fifth and Main Sts., Stroudsburg; A. A. Van Driesen, 1114 W. Main St., Stroudsburg; Jack Baldwin, 1079 W. Main St., Stroudsburg; William Karschner, Fulmer Ave., Stroudsburg; Billy Werkheiser, 23 Collins St., Stroudsburg; Kenneth Bjorn, Shawnee Dormitory, East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, and James Maloney, 317 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg.

The three-day program, in addition to the model contest and parade, featured displays of Army and Signal Corps equipment in both boroughs.

Tied in with the program was a luncheon meeting of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce on Friday, honoring the signal depot, at which The Daily Record was cited for its cooperation with the installation.

Mother Of Three Named Mrs. America
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Newly crowned Mrs. America rejoiced yesterday in her title and $15,000 in prizes and mumbled "I had no idea this would ever happen to me."

Mrs. Helen Giesse was named the nation's No. 1 homemaker in the 20th annual Mrs. America pageant Saturday night. The slender, 34-year-old brunette from Cleveland's Mayfield Heights suburb was Mrs. Ohio in the rivalry among women from 48 states and the District of Columbia.

She and her husband, William, came to Fort Lauderdale without their three children, Billy, 8, Susan, 4, and Bobby, 11 months, in accordance with pageant rules.

Would her new honor be a thrill to the youngsters? "They wouldn't understand too well because of their ages," said Mrs. America. "They were mostly excited about our trip to Florida."

Giesse, 38, advertising executive and recently elected Mayfield councilman, congratulated his wife of 12 years with a kiss when her selection was announced.

"I was not surprised," he said. "I think this thing just kind of crept up on me." Mrs. Giesse said with a smile that her husband was somewhat surprised during the state contest — she reached district finals without his knowing she was a competitor.

"I never entered any contest before," said Mrs. Giesse. "I only entered this one because my sister kept urging me to."

Canadian Trains Move Despite Protest Strike

MONTREAL (AP) — Union firemen struck yesterday against the Canadian Pacific Railway to protest a layoff program on oil-fired diesels in yard and freight service.

The second such strike on the CPR in 16 months, the dispute was watched closely as a possible test case for all North American railroads in which firemen are out of the coal-heating era.

Hours after the strike deadline, the CPR said its trains were moving all along the line.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced in Ottawa that his labor minister, Michael Starr, would meet with union and railway chiefs in an effort to halt the strike.

The walkout by the 3,000-member Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers began at 6 a.m. across Canada. Picket lines were set up, but no solid picture had yet emerged as to how effective the strike might be. Reports from scattered points said some engineers, switchmen and trainmen were crossing picket lines. In other cases, some engineers were said to be reporting sick. Supervisory personnel manned some trains.

Last night railway and union spokesmen issued contradictory statements on the effect of the strike. The CPR said services were hardly affected on the line's 17,000-mile network of tracks. Union spokesmen declared the walkout had been very effective and said the situation is improving hourly.

The union also said the full impact of the walkout was not expected to be felt until Monday morning. Sunday normally is not as busy a day for railway operations as weekdays.

The strike issued centers on the railway's decision to begin laying off firemen on diesel locomotives used on freight runs and in switching work. The company contends firemen are not needed on such runs; that the engineer alone can handle the fuel controls.

Unknown Dead To Be Honored

EPINAL, France — Thirteen anonymous comrades in arms stand their last formation today in a symbolic muster of America's unknown dead of World War II.

Muffled drums that signify death with honor for the fallen soldier will roll through rows of graves as the United States begins selection of the unidentified man who will be the unknown soldier of World War II.

At the military cemetery in Epinal, where 5,000 Americans rest in the shelter of the Vosges Mountains, 13 flag-draped coffins await this final military duty. The 13 have been gathered here from U.S. cemeteries scattered across Europe.

A gray-haired Vermont, Maj. Gen. Edward J. O'Neill, will conduct the last inspection. Himself a veteran of the conflict, he fought on Italy's Anzio Beach.

At 11:08 a.m., the time set in military orders from Washington, O'Neill will place a simple wreath on one casket, thus selecting the body of a man to represent all servicemen who died in the European or African theaters of war. The body is that of one among 2,687 servicemen killed in North Africa or Europe whose identities never were established.

The roll of unknown dead is not yet complete 13 years after Europe's war ended.

Second Incident
The second incident erupted later as Nixon was about to place a wreath at the foot of a statue of South American liberator Simon Bolivar. While a military band was playing the Star Spangled Banner and the Colombian national anthem, one part of the crowd began shouting: "Nixon, No! Out with Nixon!" and "Down with Yankee Imperialism!" Mounted police charged again. There were no casualties.

A crowd of about 1,000 persons was on hand for the ceremony in the plaza. It was estimated the anti-Nixon faction was made up of about 80 youths, some in their early teens. Their leader, seized by police, was a man of about 40.

The large majority of the crowd countered with shouts of "Viva Nixon" and "Viva the United States."

Nixon remained unperturbed and smiling during the incident.

House May Act On Public Works
WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects improved yesterday for House action within the next 30 days on antirecession proposals for a two-billion-dollar public works program.

Rep. Brent Spence (D - Ky), chairman of the House Banking Committee, said he expects to wind up lengthy committee hearings and start closed-door sessions May 29 on drafting legislation for House consideration.

The committee will also take windup action on other antirecession proposals—federal assistance to depressed communities with chronic unemployment.

Community Facilities
For a month the Banking Committee has been hearing witnesses on economic and unemployment problems, and still has a couple of weeks to go.

Spence said the community facilities bill for financing local public works projects will be taken up first "because it provides antirecession weapons that can be used quickly and efficiently."

J.C. Muys Attorney In California

JEROME C. MUYS, a 1950 East Stroudsburg High School graduate recently admitted to the State Bar of California, will return to the East this fall for a position with a Washington, D.C. law firm.

Muys was admitted to the bar in ceremonies before the California Supreme Court last December. The same day, he was admitted to practice before the United States District Court for Northern District of that state.

He was also admitted to practice to the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

Following his graduation at East Stroudsburg, Muys entered Princeton University and received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in history four years later. He was graduated magna cum laude.

That fall, he entered Stanford University law school at Palo Alto, Calif. At the close of his first year, Muys was selected as candidate for the Stanford Law Review, the law school's student-produced legal publication.

Law Review
Becoming a member of the Law Review in his second year, he was later chosen as Associate Note Editor on the third year editorial staff.

After graduating from Stanford, Muys held a position as Deputy Attorney General in the Department of Justice in the case of Arizona v. California.

The case, an important water-rights controversy involving the conflicting claims to the waters of the Colorado River system which is now before a Special Master of the United States Supreme Court.

Early in February this year, he accepted a position with the law firm of Ely, McCarthy and Duncan of Washington, D.C. Northcutt Ely, senior member of the firm, is Chief Counsel for California in the Arizona v. California case.

Muys and his wife, Barbara, also of East Stroudsburg, have a son, Jerry, and are currently residing at 374 South Catalina Ave., Pasadena.

Old Papers Found Near Buck Hill

By Don Carlson

THE DELICATE remnants of a New York City "Press" and a forerunner of The Daily Record — The Stroudsburg Times — were recently discovered in a farmhouse near Buck Hill Falls.

The local newspaper remnant was an edition of June 3, 1897. Less than a nine-inch square in size, it reported the observance of Memorial Day in the two boroughs.

It also reported the misadventures of a customer of an East Stroudsburg "saloon" who had apparently made a mistake of trying to calm a lost wallet that had been found that day. The opposite side of the small corner of the edition carried a reprint from a Gazette, Meadville, Pa., which bore testimonials of a "Dr. Williams Pink Pills For Pale People."

Compact Headlines

The New York newspaper was of that same year — actually about three weeks older. Its stories were brief, its headlines compact.

The headlines of that day — May 20 — told of the death of South Carolina Senator Joseph H. Earle, a ravaging fire at a Hoboken dock, and action in Washington.

The latter report related that "the House carried out the intentions of the leading Republicans in passing the resolution recommended by President McKinley."

The resolution passed by the legislative group "Resolved, That a state of public war exists between the Government of Spain and the government proclaimed Cuba, and for some time maintained by force of arms by the people of Cuba, and that the United States of America shall maintain a strict neutrality between the contending parties, according to each all the rights of belligerents in the ports and territory of the United States."

In a story accompanying the resolution, it was pointed out that an Indiana representative expressed his views which in effect called for the President to assist Cuban independence efforts.

The testimonials related in the local papers some 61 years ago reported one had taken "the liberty to speak for a brother-in-law of mine." The "Pink Pills For Pale People," he said, had "made him (the relative) a new man and he is one rescued from the very jaws of death."

"So great was the (brother-in-law's) affliction," he related, "... last Winter he was given up to die."

A woman bedridden for three years with a paralysis was also reported helped by the medicine. Another testimonial praised the pills for returning the "ruddy glow of health" to the wife and daughter of the source.

The badly discolored remnants were recovered from beneath a linoleum rug in the kitchen of the farmhouse. Known as the Earl Metzgar farm, it will soon be occupied by an employee of its new owner.

William J. Everett, a caretaker and employee of the Buck Hill Falls Co., reported that the find occurred while he was inspecting the house as remodeling and renovation plans were being made.

Deadlines Near For Tax Payments

SALES and Use taxpayers in Pennsylvania who remit their taxes to the Commonwealth on a monthly basis, were reminded yesterday by Clifford E. Roberts, director of the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax; Department of Revenue, that the monthly payment for March will be due on Friday of this week.

A reminder was issued also to everyone licensed to collect the three per cent Hotel Occupancy Tax that the first quarterly payment for 1958 should be remitted to the Commonwealth by May 20.

The period covered by this payment includes February, March and April. Every operator of a hotel, inn, motel, tourist homes, houses or courts, lodging houses and rooming houses in Pennsylvania is required to collect and remit to the Commonwealth the three per cent tax on all taxable rentals collected.

Roberts said, "This reminder is offered to the public by the Department so that all affected licensees and Use Taxpayers will meet their obligations promptly and properly, in order to avoid the imposition of heavy interest and penalty charges for late filing.

The act requires the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax to impose penalties upon all who fail to honor the due dates on these taxes."

Two Mothers Honored At Methodist Church Services

TWO MOTHERS were honored as a Mother's Day service held last night at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church. Cited for special recognition were Mrs. Stanley Hartman, of Cherry Lane, and Mrs. John Detrick, of 407 N. Courtland St.

Mrs. Hartman is the mother of three daughters, one of whom is Miss Barbara Hartman, a Methodist medical missionary in Africa.

Mrs. Detrick is the mother of two sons, aged seven and 14 years. Both women have been active in church activities for a number of years, serving as Sunday School teachers, officers of the Women's Society and workers in the scout movements.

They were selected for the honor by a committee representing lay leaders of the congregation. Their names were announced to a large congregation by the pastor, Rev. Harold C. Eaton.

Each mother will receive a gift as a memento of the occasion.

By Leonard Randolph
OUT OF the ancient ruins of churches in Rome, it is possible to build a stable and inspiring bridge between centuries.

This is the feeling Father John Esseff took away from the visits he and Father Robert Galligan made to St. Clement's and the Church of Sts. John and Paul during their Roman visit.

They made their tour of St. Clement's immediately after dinner on the day of their audience with Pope Pius XII. Clement was the third Pope of Rome and the "church" of today actually stands on the remnants of a sixth century church. It, in turn, was built on the foundation of Pope Clement's own home.

Excavations at the site have uncovered dozens of examples of the earliest Christian art. These things, in their own way, have given modern archeologists, theologians and scholars, a new insight into the beginnings of Christianity.

"We were so impressed by St. Clement's that a group of seminarians offered to take us to Sts. John and Paul's. This church is much better preserved and, in a way, just as richly filled with history and tradition," Father Esseff says now. The two saints were soldiers in Constantine's army who were martyred during the beginning hours of the Christian era.

Because the church is located on a high hill overlooking the city, there is less debris. Time has treated the two martyrs more kindly than life itself did. There are only two churches at the site. Beneath the present one, diggers have found a church dating back to the Third Century.

When they arrived at the door of the church, one of the Passionist fathers who care for the church, answered and said: "I'm very sorry, but the church is closed."

But Father Galligan rose to the occasion. "Wait a minute. You're not Father Bonaventura, are you?" The priest opened the door wider. "Yes, I am," he said.

As it turned out, the priest was from New Jersey. He was the first youth who had been sent to seminary by Rev. Silvio DiLuca. Father DiLuca is a former East Stroudsburg resident whose family still lives here and who has preached many missions locally. At the mention of Father DiLuca's name, the priest "rolled out the red carpet" for the two Monroe Countians.

From Sts. John and Paul Church it is only a short walk to the ruins of the Pantheon, the Colosseum and the Triumphal Arches of Titus and Constantine. Just like other American tourists, the two priests paid their routine visits to these historic landmarks.

At the Pantheon—once the world's greatest place of worship for pagan gods — they found the area has been converted into a Christian church and Holy Mass is offered there regularly. The Colosseum, which greatly impressed Father Esseff, is an architectural masterpiece, built in such a way that it could be emptied of all its 80,000 spectators in 10 minutes.

In some way the Colosseum stands in the priest's mind as a nearly-perfect symbol of the disintegration of ancient Rome. Once a mammoth sports arena, it became, in its final days, the scene of the slaughter of thousands of Christians. As the appetites of the people increased and were sated, they were left with nothing but boredom. And nothing could break the monotony but the heinous of human sacrifice, at the hands of savage animals.

Perhaps the most important parts of Rome for Christians interested in the historic meaning of their religion are The Catacombs. Lost for a thousand years, these miles of intricate, shadowed underground passages were rediscovered in the late 19th Century.

Many modern Christians believe only that the underground passages were used as escape routes or hiding places during times of persecution. But, actually, they were burial places. Scholars now estimate that about 100,000 early Christians are buried there.

It is an ideal burial site. The walls of the Catacombs are of soft, but unbelievably sturdy, material. When Christians buried their dead, they simply dug into the sides of the walls and sealed the dead in. Over and over again, archeologists have found altars throughout the Catacombs, constructed on the tombs of the earliest Saints. From this comes the practice of placing relics of Saints in modern altars.

Father Esseff had arranged to say Mass in the Catacombs for St. Matthew's Parish in Monroe County. He offered the Mass on the altar at the tomb of St. Domitilla.

From the Catacombs he carried an awakened thought that it is now possible for Christians to walk again in the exact same way as did the millions who have gone before them.

And then his thoughts began to turn more and more to the journey of the following day. It was on this day that the two priests were to travel to Foggia, an obscure province in Southern Italy.

In Foggia they were to meet a man who bears the wounds of Christ on his hands, his side and his feet every day of his life.

Five days after Lent had ended and they had boarded a plane for a European "vacation", the two priests were moving farther and farther backward in time — through the Catacombs to a step-by-step re-creation of Calvary.

50,000 Bus Drivers Strike In England

LONDON (AP) — One Londoner chugged to work down the Thames on a water scooter yesterday. Another walked to his job in shorts. Six overalls workmen hired a Rolls Royce.

Thousands of others rode the jam-packed subway. Other thousands walked as 50,000 busmen struck for a $1.47 raise to their $28 to $30 average weekly salary.

An estimated two to three million thumbed rides or changed their way of getting to work. Many other millions were affected one way or another.

Bicycle
One suburbanite loaded an old-fashioned high-wheeled bicycle in the baggage car of his train and pedaled the bike about town when the train reached London. A pair of bankers in derby hats rode on the back of a junk man's dray. Schoolboys skated to classes.

"My trousers?" said the man in his shorts. "They're in my brief case. If I walked in them I'd freeze them. So, off they came."

Extra policemen were on duty, but no disorders were reported.

A spokesman for operators of the government-owned and operated 8,400 buses—most of them bulky, red two-deckers—said:

"The executives believe the strike to be unjustified and unnecessary."

The bus company constantly loses money as more people buy cars or stay home watching television.

The Laborite Daily Herald expressed the union's view: "The government (Conservative) decided long ago that it would take the first chance it got of forcing a wage showdown. Its real purpose is to set an example of resistance to wage demands—regardless of the increase in the cost of living—to the whole of industry."

An impartial tribunal awarded a $1.20 raise to 36,000 bus employees in central London, but balked at a raise for 14,000 in the London county service. The union insisted on a raise for all. When the government refused to budge the busmen struck at midnight Sunday.

Yes... The Mother of God WILL Help You!

You may not approve of the age-old Catholic devotion to the Blessed Virgin.

Perhaps you have heard—and believed—that this is "un-Scriptural"... that Catholics are trying to establish Mary as a divine person equal in power to God.

But if you will look at the facts, you will see that these things are not true... and you will realize that Mary can exert a wonderful influence in your personal life.

It certainly is not "un-Scriptural" to recognize that Mary is the Mother of Jesus Christ. If we are to be truly "Scriptural," we must further acknowledge that Christ is the eternal Son of the eternal Father—a Divine Person who assumed a human nature like ours in all things except sin. And while Mary did not give Jesus His divine nature, the Savior was her Son... as truly as anyone is the son of his own mother.

In view of these truths, how can anyone look upon Mary as just another woman, or just another mother? Why should we hesitate to honor one whom God so greatly honored... and upon whom He conferred a surpassing holiness and complete freedom from sin? Why should we believe that one so close to the Son of God in His earthly life is not close and dear to Him in His eternal Kingdom?

It is erroneous, of course, to think that Catholics worship Mary as a divine person. But we do love and venerate her for the unique place she occupies in God's plan for our salvation... for her intimate association with the all-holy Son of God... for her own holiness. But, you may say—why should we pray to Mary when we can pray directly to God... as the Scriptures command? The answer is that

These are the chief reasons for the world-wide Catholic devotion to the Blessed Virgin. These are the reasons why millions of people, in every land and every language, are heard to pray:

"Hail, Mary, full of grace! the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou amongst women; and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus..."

The name of the Blessed Virgin is in the headlines these days... and people everywhere are discussing her place in Catholic devotion. We have prepared a special pamphlet dealing with Mary's place in the Christian creed and will send you a copy free of charge, in a plain wrapper, and nobody will call on you. # Unintention Assist

This country's prestige in South America has slipped over the years because of several factors, not the least of which has been a take-it-for-granted attitude in official Washington.

While the United States has been busy trying to put out Communist-set fires in the rest of the world, South America was almost ignored by those whose duty it has been to strengthen our ties of friendship with other countries.

It is heartening, therefore, to learn that the Communists, who have been hornoring in on us in South America, have unintentionally helped to bolster our relations with a number of neighbors to the south.

All this has come about as a result of Vice President Nixon's good-will mission to eight South American countries.

Small but well organized Communist demonstrators have tried to stir up additional anti-American sentiment in all the places where Mr. Nixon has stopped. They went so far as to throw stones and garbage at him in Lima, Peru, and even spat upon him.

The Reds succeeded in preventing him from speaking on several occasions, but refused to accept his challenge to debate the facts.

Mr. Nixon's calmness and courage in the face of cruel, almost inhuman treatment won him and the United States many new friends everywhere he has gone.

And it has allowed him to drive home a basic reason for his trip—to alert the U.S. public to the tremendous importance of Latin America to the United States. In one important move, Mr. Nixon called on the people of the United States to help the Latin Americans raise their living standards.

By doing so, we will be enhancing the chances of retaining our neighbors to the south as friends. If we are successful we can be not a little thankful to the Communists for the help they gave us in directing wide attention to the Nixon mission.

GOVERNOR

Term—4 years (cannot succeed himself) Salary—$35,000

Questions: Candidates for the Governor were asked the following questions:

1. If elected for this office, for what specific improvements in State government would you work?
2. Do you think there is a need to revise the Pennsylvania Constitution? Please give your reasons for your answer.

DEMOCRATIC

Lavelle, Edward P. 419 Mulberry St., Scranton Age 48 Education: High School, graduate; St. Joseph's College, Scranton, N. Y.

Occupation: Ranch Owner Training and Experience: Owner of 2 restaurants, previously; Worked for Internal Revenue Department, Scranton; Toured Europe giving lectures in schools; Ran for Mayor of Scranton—defeated; Served as Capitol policeman at State Capitol in Harrisburg.

1. If elected for this office, for what specific improvements in State government would you work? —A woman must be head of the Welfare Department. —There should be a woman lawyer in the Attorney General's Department. —In favor of legalized horse-racing and four lotteries a month which would pay school teachers' salaries in Pennsylvania. —In favor of a war veteran as personnel manager for the State of Pennsylvania as he knows the problems of the veterans.
2. Do you think there is a need to revise the Pennsylvania Constitution? Please give your reasons for your answer. —The matter should be brought up for complete study by a non-partisan group.

DEMOCRATIC

Furman, Roy E. 51 N. Maiden St., Waynesburg, Pa. Age—57 Education: Grade—High School—Waynesburg College—A. B. Degree.

Occupation: General Contractor Training and Experience: Member of House of Representatives—eight years Speaker of House—Twice elected 1½ terms Lieutenant Governor—Pres. of Senate of Pa. 3 years plus.

1. If elected for this office for what specific improvements would you work? —Ans. A better and more economical Government.
2. Do you think there is a need to revise the Pennsylvania Constitution? Please give reasons for your answer. —Ans. Yes. Amendments are slow and cumbersome. Constitution adopted in 1874. It is time that it should be revised to meet present day conditions. I favor a Convention.

DEMOCRATIC

Lawrence, David L. 355 South Aiken Ave., Pittsburgh 32, Pa. Age—68 Education: High School Graduate Occupation: Insurance Training and Experience: Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Mayor, City of Pittsburgh, since 1946.

1. If elected for this office, for what specific improvements in State government would you work? —Ans. Basically, I intend to build upon the foundations laid by the Leader administration which has successfully begun to overcome the most pressing problems facing the state and to plan and develop a more efficient and effective operation of the State government. I will continue the mental and health programs and push them forward; I will fight for improvements in our educational system and for a program to encourage and aid students to go to college; I will work to strengthen the state's industrial development and urban redevelopment program; I will seek to develop a housing program, to aid the senior citizens of Pennsylvania, and to protect and extend human rights. In short, I will try to bring to Harrisburg the same philosophy which has been so successful in Pittsburgh, which is to unite all groups, regardless of party preference or social position, to work together to achieve in Pennsylvania the highest possible standards of State government with all that means in the character and the quality of State services.
2. Do you think there is a need to revise the Pennsylvania Constitution? Please give reasons for your answer. —Ans. I strongly favor revision of the State Constitution. It seems apparent to me that these revisions should include a provision permitting the governor to succeed himself, although this should not apply to the governor in office when the Constitutional change is adopted by the Legislature. I also believe that we should have annual sessions of the legislature and that the Constitution should be changed to prevent the paying of millions of dollars in additional interest rates caused by the unrealistic state debt limits. There are other features of the Constitution which I could discuss but in view of the fact that a Constitutional Revision Committee is now at work, I believe it is desirable to keep this matter out of the arena of a political campaign.

Daily Record To Be Represented At Conference

The Daily Record will be represented at the Pennsylvania Press Conference at University Park beginning next Friday.

Bobby Westbrook, our social editor, and Leonard Randolph, veteran member of the editorial staff, will be features of the annual session.

Randy will be present to talk on the education series that reaches its official conclusion in The Daily Record tomorrow.

Bobby is a high ranking official in the Pennsylvania Women's Press Assn.

The meeting, to be held at the Nittany Lion Inn for two days, is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Assn., Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors, Penn State School of Journalism and the Pennsylvania Women's Press Assn.

Frank N. Hawkins, editor of the editorial page, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, will preside over the opening session. His subject will be "What's Wrong With Today's Newspapers and What Can Be Done About It."

Slated to take part in the session are Emery H. Ruby, editor of the Gallup Poll, and four Pennsylvania newspapermen.

The newspapermen, in addition to Randolph are, Quinton E. Beauge, Williamsport

Sun-Gazette; William D. Reimert, Allentown Call-Chronicle, and E. J. Donohoe, Scranton Times.

Bill Wells, well known official at the A. B. Wyckoff Department Store, recently returned from a business trip to California.

Nobody will be surprised when I tell you that Bill managed to save up enough time to see the Los Angeles Dodgers in action in their new surroundings.

Bill also feels much better about the present condition of his beloved Boston Red Sox.

John Watt, public relations officer for the First Stroudsburg National Bank, ran into an old friend to many people of this area recently.

While driving home from Florida, John stopped at a small town in Georgia. A resident noticed his Pennsylvania license plate and asked John about his home town.

John said he was from Stroudsburg.

The Georgia resident said he knew that town well.

The Georgia man? It was George Strickland, who once played shortstop for the Stroudsburg Poconos, when the North Atlantic League was still in operation.

Louis DePaul, of the Tobyhanna Signal Depot, made it clear to us the other day that he isn't selling his golf clubs, despite wide circulating reports of late.

The Mount Pocono resident certainly can take a riding.

Space Agency For Ike

Washington — President Eisenhower is going to get considerably more than he asked for on a new space agency.

A majority of the special House Space Committee, headed by Rep. John McClellan (D., Mass.), has privately decided on a bill which not only makes major changes in the form of the regulatory agency recommended by the President, but also gives it a lot more authority than he proposed.

Official name of this new history-making body would be the National Aeronautics and Space Agency.

It would absorb all the functions and operations now conducted by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, consisting of leading businessmen, scientists and government officials, under the chairmanship of General in New York State, the Republican Party is gradually accepting the domination of United States Senator Jacob Javits. The other United States Senator, Irving Ives, who comes up for re-election this year, takes in his stride philosophical and remotely the problems of the day.

The task of the Republican Party in 1958 is to elect a Governor in the place of Averell Harriman, who is a Democrat. Harriman will run for re-election. He may have as his Senatorial nominee either Robert F. Wagner, the Mayor of New York City, Frank S. Hogan, the District Attorney of the New York County, or the Rooseveltian Postmaster General, James A. Farley.

If Farley runs, he will attract many Republican votes, no matter who the Republican candidate is. It is not believable that any one of these men would fail to get the Liberal Party endorsement, although David Dubinsky and Alex Rose, two labor leaders who own that party, might be embarrassed if Nelson Rockefeller runs on the Republican ticket either for Governor or Senator.

Should Rockefeller be defeated, Javits will have been the last Republican to have been elected to a statewide office. Javits is energetic, aggressive, opportunistic and inordinately ambitious. His singleness of purpose could leave Javits fully in control but with a reduced party to follow him.

Two other candidates will present themselves for the Governorship, Louis Lefkowitz, Attorney General of the State of New York and at this moment the only Republican in the state administration, and Leonard Hall, formerly Chairman of the Republican National Committee, who had assumed that he had the endorsement of the Eisenhower Administration.

An important factor in this situation which cannot be disregarded is the position of Thomas E. Dewey, whose influence in New York State remains enormous. It will not be easy for anyone to be nominated

James Doolittle.

But instead of vesting control of the new space agency in a 17-member board, as urged by the President, the House Committee will place this authority in the hands of a $22,500-a-year Administrator — with the further proviso that he is to have "direct access to the President."

A board is included in the committee's measure, but only as an advisory group.

The Administrator can seek the board's views and guidance on policies and projects. But he doesn't have to bow to this advice. He would be free to accept or reject it. Composition and size of this board are still undetermined. Under the President's plan, it would have nine members from industry and other private sources, and eight from the government. Majority committee sentiment favors reversing that, to nine from the latter and eight from the former.

The President would appoint the Administrator and the board, and all would have to be confirmed by the Senate.

The House bill also would create a Joint Congressional Committee on Space, with jurisdiction over the proposed agency. This new Committee would be modeled after the Joint Atomic Committee, headed by Representative Carl Durham (D., N.C.), which has authority over the Atomic Energy Commission.

What I'll Do—Primary purpose of the legislation being drafted backstage by Representative McCormack's Committee is to ensure civilian control over space research, development and projects.

To specifically stress that, a preamble is being added to the bill stating:

"Congress declares that all space activities should be directed by the civilian agency exercising control over aeronautical and space research sponsored by the U.S., except insofar as such activities may be primarily associated with weapons system or military operations, in which case the agency will act in cooperation with, or on behalf of, the Defense Department."

Under this policy declaration, according to a Committee leader, the President would decide important differences between the space agency and the military. It was pointed out this is one of the main reasons for giving the NASA Administrator "direct access to the President."

The immense scope and authority of the new space agency, as contemplated in the House Committee's forthcoming bill, are graphically indicated by the following major provisions:

1. "Develop, test, launch and operate aeronautical and space vehicles."
2. "Develop a comprehensive program of research in the aeronautical and space sciences."
3. "Plan, direct and conduct scientific studies and investigations of the problems of manned and unmanned flight within or outside of the earth's atmosphere with a view to their practical solution."
4. "Arrange for participation by the scientific community in planning scientific measurements and observations to be made through use of aeronautical and space vehicles, to conduct and arrange for the conduct of such measurements and operations, and to provide for the appropriate dissemination of the collected data."

For these epochal objectives, the agency is given "authority to acquire, construct and operate laboratories, research and testing sites, and space vehicles."

This provision is deemed by Committee members as especially important. They indicate its intent is to write into law a direct counter to the claims of the three armed services to "primary rights to develop and operate all space vehicles."

Plan of the Committee is to seek full House consideration of its bill late this month. Speaker Sam Rayburn (D., Tex.), favors that.

In addition to Chairman McCormack, members of the special space Committee are: Representatives Overton Brooks (D., La.), Brooks Hays (D., Ark.), Leo O'Brien (D., N.Y.), B. F. Sisk (D., Calif.), Lee Metcalf (D., Mont.), William Natcher (D., Ky.), Republican Leader Joseph Martin, Mass. Leslie Arends (R., Ill.), Gordon McDonough (R., Calif.), James Fulton (R., Pa.), Kenneth Keating (R., N.Y.) and Gerald Ford (R., Mich.).

Note: Former Atomic Commissioner Thomas Murray is playing a leading role in writing this history-making legislation. He is the Committee's chief adviser. Murray is also top consultant of the Joint Atomic Commission.

New Welfare Setup

Pennsylvania takes a step toward better organization of governmental activities next June 1 by combining its Department of Public Assistance and its Department of Welfare into the new Department of Public Welfare. The move was authorized by the Legislature last year.

Governor Leader has selected as head of the new department Harry Shapiro, who has headed his Welfare Department for the past three years. And Mr. Shapiro fully merits the honor of starting the new department on its way.

A Philadelphia attorney with a long-time interest in mental health, Mr. Shapiro headed the State Senate investigation and sponsored the legislation which, 21 years ago, made the state solely responsible for all public care of mental patients.

Progress in the mental health field thereafter was constant, but slow. When Governor Leader took office in 1955, Mr. Shapiro became his Welfare Secretary with the avowed purpose of bringing our treatment of mental patients up to date.

Aided by new methods of treatment, new legislation and bigger appropriations, Mr. Shapiro made good on his mission. Not only are our mental hospitals doing more effective work, but Mr. Shapiro has also moved to make up our shocking deficiencies in care of the mentally retarded and treatment of emotionally disturbed children.

There still is plenty of work to be done in these fields, and it is right that the man who sparked the program should stay in charge. — Pittsburgh Press.

The Pennsylvania Story

Job Lag Faces Dems

Harrisburg — Strange though it may seem, Republicans in shooting for a statewide win at the polls this year, in certain respects are following in the late lamented footsteps of their successful Democratic arch-rivals of four years ago.

In the current primary campaign this is most noticeable insofar as the "organization" ticket is concerned—but it does offer a portent of things to come in the Fall campaign should this slate win May 20.

Basically strategy centers around the fact that in Pennsylvania today the economic recession with its accompanying high schedule of unemployment is just about the number one point of interest.

In 1954, it will be recalled, the high level of unemployment in the state at that time became one of the top issues on the then underdog Democratic agenda.

Democratic administration sources on Capitol Hill since then have credited this issue with being one of the major contributing factors in placing Democrat George M. Leader in the gubernatorial chair.

Four years ago the entire onus for the high unemployment level was placed by aspiring Democrats squarely in the lap of the incumbent Republican administration.

Situation Reversed

It is with a touch of irony now that the incumbent Democratic Leader Administration finds itself faced not only with a situation of the same nature as that "enjoyed" in 1954—but considerably worse.

In actuality, those strategists who call the shots concede that the present Democratic Leader Administration is no more responsible for the high rate of unemployment this time than the Republican Fine Administration in 1954.

In campaign terms however all of this is quite beside the point.

The salient fact at the moment is that a Democratic administration is in power at a time when job seekers have reached a critical high point—just as they did when the last GOP administration occupied the throne atop Capitol Hill.

The shoe in campaign year 1958 is on the other foot but Republicans have planned a comparable capitalization strategy, as well they might.

Whether it will work with the success of the Democratic strategy four years ago remains to be seen.

There is one major difference between the two. Democrats historically have been classified as the party with the labor label.

Within the span of the past few years insofar as Pennsylvania is concerned at least, this has reached a fine point of definition.

Also the so-called "labor party" Democratic leaders have been concerned basically with their counterparts — labor leaders, relying on these kingpins to carry the ball with their rank and file.

Republicans on the other hand have been identified as almost anything but a "labor party"—but the leaning this year particularly is in the other direction.

GOP strategists are "cultivating" labor—but not the Democratic-captive labor leadership. Republicans are shooting directly beyond labor leaders—to the men and women in the ranks who hold the vote key in the final analysis—the labor rank and file.

This bold move combined with an economic recession may well prove the undoing of Democrats this year.

Bull-Fighting Taboo Here

Dear Abby: When that young girl wrote you and asked if she should become a lady bullfighter, I am glad you discouraged her. Doesn't this girl know that while bullfighters appear to be brave and glamorous in their costumes, they are cowards fighting animals who have been tortured until they are mad and vicious? There is no real "sport" involved. There are real careers that offer glamour, excitement and adventure without the cruelty of torturing animals for the amusement of on-lookers. If you share my viewpoint, I hope to see this in print.

B. F. S.

Dear B. F. S.: By American standards, bullfighting is considered inhumane, and is not permitted here. Of course I share your viewpoint, and I'm sure we have plenty of company.

Dear Abby: I have been going with a man for three years. We aren't kids as I'm 46 and he's 50. He is the type who thinks everything over a long time and he doesn't like to be pushed. He told me he will marry me when the weather clears up. My friends tell me he is wasting my time. I am not getting any younger. How can I close this deal?

ANXIOUS

Dear Anxious: Don't stand on ceremonies. Tell him you have marriage in mind and ask him what's on his mind.

Dear Abby: We share a party line with the most inconsiderate people anyone could imagine. They interrupt our conversations with wise cracks and once the misss broke in on me saying they had to have the line for an "emergency" call and then she called up her grocer. Another time they left the phone off the hook and we could hear the whole "Playhouse 90" program which took an hour and a half. Do you think if we complained to the Telephone Company they would do anything about it? My friends say they won't.

IMPOSED UPON

Dear Imposed: Your friends are misinformed. Notify the Telephone Company.

Dear Abby: Please give your opinion of a mother who has three small children (ages 6, 9 and 12) who lays in bed all morning sleeping and lets the children get their own breakfast and clean up the kitchen. Then she brags to all her friends how independent her children are and makes everyone else feel like dopes because they get up and do the things for their children that mothers are supposed to do.

Curious.

Dear Curious: No one can tell another what she SHOULD do for her children. Maybe this is her way of teaching her children to do for themselves. What's one man's medicine is another man's poison.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Don't tell anybody but despite the fulsome praises of Mother's Day—mothers aren't perfect. I watched two of them having the greatest free-for-all you ever did see.

They were mother birds but they were typical of a lot of us. There's a blue jay nesting in the cedar, and right next door in the spruce is a robin and the nests face each other.

I don't know what started the fracas — but then you seldom do remember, even if it's your fight. But they made such a racket—screaming and pulling out each other's feathers that I was sure it was the cat.

First thing you know the father came streaking home from wherever they'd been hanging out and they got involved. Red feathers, blue feathers all over the place and so much noise that the cat started clawing at the screen door to come in.

Nobody won, that I could see, but each went back to sit on her own nest and glare at each other. A fine way to spend Mother's Day, I must say.

I'm not celebrating my Mother's Day until school is out and I get a chance to make like a mother again. Elizabeth Harmon was due in last night to round out Sue's day. The home folks are homing from all over the map.

Mrs. George Hauser has had a wonderful winter in California, and got so homesick for snow that they drove to the mountains just to look at it. If she hurries home she may still see some of our left-overs.

Seems as if I have an awful lot of left-over news, too. All last week I kept thinking—"If I can just make it to Saturday," and here it is this week and it looks even worse, or better, depending on my mood. One thing for sure—I'll be seeing you somewhere this week. I'll bet.

Good way to cook bacon for a crowd: place it on a rack in a shallow baking pan so that the fat edge of the slices overlap the lean edges. Then bake on the top shelf of a hot oven, without turning for 15 minutes or until as crisp as desired.

Family Fare

By Bobby Westbrook

AMERICAN ABROAD—with the Eiffel tower in the background, SP 3 Edward Shukaitis is making the most of his final leave in Europe.

Shukaitis Visits Fair In Brussels

SP3 EDWARD Shukaitis of the U.S. Army Signal Depot, Saumur, France, is nearing completion of his assignment from the United States Army. Originally from Mahanoy City, Shukaitis has been stationed at Saumur for the past year, and excerpts from a recent letter are quoted for those who might be interested in life abroad...

"You must think I'm a real galavant. Since mid-April I've been in 6 countries in the space of 27 days of leave. I've seen the main points of interest in each of France, England, Ireland, Wales, Belgium and Netherlands.

"This time I'll tell you of my visit to Lourdes and the World's Fair. On April 12th I arrived at the magnificent Lourdes. There are churches built on three levels to fulfill Mary's command that a church be built there. Recently an underground basilica was opened. At night there is a beautiful candlelight procession around the churches and there must be thousands walking with lighted candles singing, 'Ave, Ave, Ave Maria.'

"Arrived at the Fair in Brussels on Monday and took a bus around the grounds and a ride on one of the ski lifts. The latter gave an excellent view of the fairgrounds from up in the atomium. I visited the American, Russian, Vatican and Canadian pavilions. Russia's was a more serious type display showing machinery, cars, and even furnished rooms of a house. Ours was in a lighter vein. I think, and much nicer. We have a huge pool in the center of our main pavilion and a number of weeping willow trees that were there previously. They show an excellent movie using Walt Disney's Circarama technique. This treat tours the U.S.A. in 18 minutes. All they're good for, in my opinion, is laughs.

"Of course it would take days to see all the exhibits but — no matter what the entertainment — my greatest thrill will be my return to the United States."

Rev. Bernard Gives Final Charge Report

Tannersville—The Tannersville Methodist charge held its fourth quarterly conference on Thursday night at the Readers Methodist Church. Rev. Paul W. Pole North District superintendent of the Philadelphia conference presided at the meeting at which all five churches were represented: Effort, McMichael, Readers, Tannersville and Wesley Chapel.

Officials of the churches expressed their appreciation for the seven years of service which Rev. LeRoy Bernard, here attending his final official meeting, had given to the charge.

As his last official act, Rev. LeRoy Bernard presented a summary of the progress made in those seven years, including building and renovating as well as increased membership in all the churches. Rev. and Mrs. Bernard will make their home at Christine, Pa.

Verdon Fralley, lay leader of the charge and also a member of the Temperance board of the Philadelphia Conference, and Mrs. B. H. Granscher, lay delegate of the Tannersville charge, will attend the annual conference to be held at the Arch St. Methodist Church, Philadelphia, beginning Wednesday May 14.

Church Board Honors Pastor On Retirement

Tannersville—The official board and workers of the Tannersville Methodist Church met on Monday night for a fellowship supper with retiring pastor, Rev. LeRoy Bernard and Mrs. Bernard.

There were 26 members and friends present for this final official meeting with the pastor. A report of the progress made with the guidance and help of Rev. Bernard was given: the Sunday school room was renovated, the cemetery has been improved, the exterior of the church property has been advanced, and a new Baldwin organ has been purchased.

Tribute was paid to the pastor and his wife for their work for the church and their care for the sick and shut ins. Mrs. Frances Baecker read a poem, "To A Friend," Mrs. Sylvia Werkeiser read, "Friendship." A friendship circle closed the meeting.

Luncheon For Fire Co. Aux.

Tannersville—The Ladies Aux. of the Pocono Twp. Fire Co. will meet Thursday night at 7:30 in the firehall. The newly elected officers will be installed and a covered dish luncheon will be served. Members are asked to call Mrs. Bert Saylor in reference to the covered dish. Plans for the coming carnival will be made at this meeting.

St. Matthew's PTA

Leonard Randolph who has just completed a series dealing with an education survey in Monroe County in the Daily Record will be the speaker at tonight's meeting of St. Matthew's Parents Assn. at the school auditorium at 8:15.

The Wyckoff Shopper

It was a real surprise to encounter Bill Wells in our stationery department Friday morning, and to find Thelma Gordon and Carrie Rusk at their desks. No one had expected to see them before Saturday, or possibly Monday, but they just couldn't stay away from the excitement of Tobyhanna Days.

Bill has promised he'll come on the air one of these mornings and tell about the trip, which he considers most successful. However, he'd rather wait until some of the purchased merchandise arrives and is ready to go on our Wyckoff counters. When we met, he was carrying one of the items selected in the West.... a beautiful cardigan in pink, with lavish bunches of grapes on the front. I did not have the opportunity to examine it closely.... I can't tell you whether the grapes were handpainted, or not, though they seemed to be, and I do not know whether the sweater was cotton, orlon or wool. All I can say is that it was lovely, and leads me to believe that all of this California wear will be well worth watching for.

Carrie and Thelma also found the trip stimulating and satisfactory, but both admit to being more than a little weary. Thelma tells me Bill really cracked the whip, and kept them at work — so my greeting of "Well, how was the vacation?" hardly made a hit! She is also of the opinion that covering the Los Angeles market is far tougher than covering the New York market. This may be because the city was strange and the people encountered were strangers. In any case, the experience was one none would have cared to miss.

Bill was very much interested in the fashion show, held here during his absence. I was happy to be able to call it most successful, and to have Clyde Burke, Tobyhanna Depot information officer, affirm this as he paused to welcome Bill home. Mr. Burke's little daughter, I understand, was one of the adorable kindergarten youngsters who opened the show. I think it was she who carried the letter "S".

But I am sincere in saying we wish Bill had been here for the show. Doug Gordon did a wonderful job as stand-in, but I stand on record as believing that there are times when one just can't have too many men around!

Sally Starr

Sally Starr In May PTA Festival

Sally Starr, hostess of the TV show Starr Theatre, will be present in person for the May Festival sponsored by the Hamilton Parent-Teachers Assn. The festival will be held at the West End Fairgrounds, Gilbert on May 31 from 1 to 3 p.m., and proceeds will be used for playground equipment.

Sally Starr was born in Kansas City where she got her start in community activities. Her first experience in broadcasting came as a disc jockey on a local radio station. She appears on WFIL-TV every evening, and is a disc jockey on WJMJ radio presentations, in addition to many personal appearances.

She will sign autographs after the show and leave the fairgrounds for Philadelphia in time for her evening television show.

At the meeting of the committee, progress was reported in many lines. There has been a good response for baked goods, and games and refreshments are being planned for the festival to which the public is invited.

Larry Detrick's Sixth Birthday On Mother's Day

Larry Detrick of 55 North Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, celebrated his sixth birthday on Sunday, May 11, Mother's Day. Larry was born on Mother's Day but this is the first time his birthday fell on the same day.

He celebrated on Friday with the classmates in his kindergarten class. Refreshments were served.

Public Hearings

NEW YORK — The House Un-American Activities Committee yesterday scheduled public hearings for June 16 into the entertainment field. The emphasis will be on the music and television industries. The committee wound up two days of private hearings.

STOP THIEF!

Blight is a dangerous sneak-thief. Decay anywhere in your community can steal your family's security by breeding slums. Slums raise your taxes, lower your property values, rob you of school and business facilities.

Blight is also a killer. It thrives on carelessness and neglect. From one run-down home it spreads stealthily outward, street by street. In no time at all, whole neighborhoods are strangled, destroyed.

Stay alert. You have a personal stake in your neighborhood. Begin by keeping up your own home. Then join with your neighbors in local community-improvement groups. You'll find people eager to help. Working together, everybody gains — everyone can enjoy better living in better neighborhoods.

Start now. Write for information to:

Ambulance Involved In Accident

NO ONE was injured in the collision of a Monroe County General Hospital ambulance and an automobile on Brown St., East Stroudsburg, about 10:45 a.m. Saturday.

Borough police identified the drivers as Harold Stein, 39, of 10 Day St., East Stroudsburg, operating the ambulance, and Bertram Allen, 66, of 17 Borough St., East Stroudsburg.

Forced Into Pole

They said Allen was entering Brown St. from the rear of a tire shop when his car struck the left side of the ambulance, forcing it into a utility pole.

Clarence Jones, a patient in the ambulance, and Stephen Rider, an attendant, also escaped injury.

Plan To Resist

NEWARK, N. J. — Spokesmen claiming to represent 150,000 farmers in New Jersey, New Jersey and Pennsylvania reaffirmed yesterday their intention to resist Teamster Union efforts to organize dairy-men on a national basis.

The telephone company faces the same basic problems as other businesses

Over the past 10 years, there have been increases in the price of almost everything you buy. And the reasons have been obvious. Wages and the cost of supplies and services all have gone up.

The rising spiral of costs has forced telephone rates up also. But the increase has been less than one-third as much as for most other things. This achievement has been possible only through important advances in telephone science and prudent management.

There is one big difference between raising telephone prices and the prices of other goods and services.

Most companies can raise their prices as soon as earnings decline. As a regulated business—no matter how urgent our need—we cannot do this.

Like any other business, we must stand on our own feet

We face the same basic problems other businesses do. Our freedom from the direct competition of other telephone companies in the areas we serve does not guarantee us satisfactory earnings—or even customers.

Like any other business, we must provide a product people want and are willing to pay for.

Like any other business, we must provide jobs which will enable us to obtain the kind of people we need to run the business.

Like any other business, we must pay taxes.

Like any other business, we must buy supplies and services at current, competitive prices.

Like any other business, we must pay interest on the money we have borrowed. And we must borrow part of the money we need to meet demands for service and to introduce service improvements.

Like any other business, we must pay a reasonable return on the money people have invested in the telephone business.

Like any other business, we must stand on our own feet, pay our own way, solve our own problems.

It is in your interest that we earn enough to expand and pay dividends

It is the simple truth that good earnings for the telephone company are in the best interest of everyone. For the telephone company with good earnings is able to take advantage of new scientific developments and long-range economies beyond the means of the company with poor earnings.

In this era of expansion at inflated prices—and facing the same basic problems as non-regulated businesses—we must have earnings that enable us to help meet expansion requirements and to provide a reasonable, return for the investor.

The economic fact remains that we must increase our prices from time to time so long as wages and the cost of all the things we buy continue to go up.

ESSTC Plans To Honor Dr. Foltz

IRVING W. FOLTZ, head of the department of education at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will be honored at a banquet at the Fernwood, Bushkill, Wednesday, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Foltz will retire June 1 after 17 years as a member of the college faculty. The banquet is sponsored by the college branch of the Pennsylvania State Education Assn.

Perry W. Bean will be master of ceremonies and Dr. L. Donald Warren will give the invocation. The honored guest will receive gifts from Genevieve Zimbar.

Guests will include Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, college president; Dr. Francis B. McGarry, dean of instruction; Dr. Joseph F. Noonan, past president of the college; Mrs. Kathryn B. Edwards, vice president of the board of trustees, and Edward L. Williams, president of the alumni association.

Foltz was graduated from River Falls Normal School in Wisconsin and received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Columbia University Teachers College.

He was professor of education at the University of Florida until 1924 when he became principal of East Stroudsburg Junior High School. In 1914, he became supervisor of secondary education at the college.

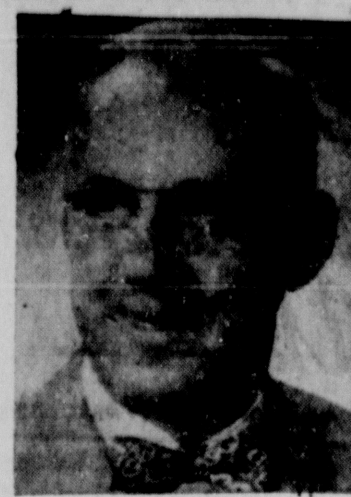

He was named to an associate professorship in the department of education in 1951 and became chairman of the department in 1956. He has been senior class advisor since 1941.

Foltz is a past president of Stroudsburg Rotary Club and has been its song leader for many years.

He and his wife, the former Hazel Hansen, live at 14 Spangenberg Ave., East Stroudsburg. They are parents of one son, Dean Foltz, Denver, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Foltz plan to travel to the west coast and Mexico after his retirement.

Woman, Truck Driver Killed In Collision Involving Three Vehicles Near Norristown

NORRISTOWN — A collision involving two automobiles and a truck in nearby Plymouth Township Saturday killed a 21-year-old woman and a 33-year-old truck driver.

Victims of the accident were Miss Deborah Britt, of Jenkintown, Pa., and Marshall C. Armstead, of Philadelphia.

Plymouth Township Police, Sgt. William Jordan said Miss Britt's car collided with a second car driven by Harry O. Reimer, 61, an Ambler borough councilman, near the Walton and Township Line Rds. intersection.

Miss Britt lost control of her car and swerved into the path of a stone-laden truck driven by Armstead.

Miss Britt died in Montgomery Hospital of her injuries. Armstead was thrown out of his truck when it turned over and he was crushed under his cargo, nearly six tons of crushed stone.

Reimer and his passengers—his wife, Marion; Edward Sage and Sage's sister, Mrs. Linda Redington—escaped injury.

Nine Foreign Students Visit In County

NINE foreign students visiting the United States for graduate work spent a weekend in the Stroudsburg area as guests of six local families.

The students — representing the countries of England, Hungary, Switzerland, China, Germany, Egypt and Afghanistan — visited under a program sponsored by the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church Women's Assn.

According to a spokesman last night the young people expressed a "love for the Stroudsburgs" at their departure yesterday afternoon.

They arrived Friday night by station wagon from New York City and spent most of Saturday touring the county. Among the sites they saw were Big Pocono, Buck Hill Falls, the wild animal farm, fish hatchery, and Monroe County General Hospital.

Two of the students were nurses, another a doctor, and a fourth a chemist. Saturday night they were entertained at the home of their respective host and met other community young people.

The names of the students, their homelands, and their hosts are as follows:

Hafizullah Anwar of Afghanistan; Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Kiefer; Denes Gellert of Hungary; and Robert W. Huang of China. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wyckoff; Miss Mary Jenkins of England; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. LeBar; Youssef Salame of Egypt; Miss Susie Schindel of England; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. LeBar; Robert Widmer of Switzerland; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cohen; Gunther Jensen of Germany, Rev. and Mrs. John Bollier; and leader of the group, Robert Levine.

Saturday night, two of the students were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Holt Wyckoff.

June 30 Major Date To Workers

TO AN undetermined number of long-time disabled Stroudsburg area workers under age 50, June 30 can mean much more than the end of one month and the beginning of another—even with Independence Day itself in the offing.

According to the Easton Social Security office, June 30 of this year is the very last day on which applications to protect earnings records can cover the full period of a disability that began before July of 1957.

May Forfeit
If these severely disabled workers don't file their claims on or before that day, they may forfeit disability benefits at age 50, and the loss of, or reduction in, their retirement benefits at age 65 and the death benefits to survivors.

To avoid future losses of monthly benefits that could seriously reduce purchasing power at a time when it will be badly needed, the local social security office urges all disabled workers under age 50 who (1) have worked under social security, (2) became disabled at any time prior to July of 1957 and (3) have not already made inquiry as to their social security rights, to get in touch with any social security office promptly.

Polk High Names Staff

KRESGEVILLE — The Junior Class of Polk Township High School selected the following students to direct the publication of the Polyton, yearbook for 1959:
Benita Guydes and Robert Andrews, editors; Clara Serfass, Doretta Feller and Millie Lenhart, business managers; Shirley Bruch and Helen Snyder, art editors; Lee Costenbader, music editor; John Long and Nancy Heckman, sports editors; Emma Zacharias and Carole Burchell, news editors; Edith Smith and Nancy Smith, humor editors; John Macsay, advertising manager.

Employment Up In Some Fields

WASHINGTON — Upturns in some economic fields, including farm employment and retail sales, were reported by the government yesterday.

Farm employment increased more than normal in April, the Agriculture Department said, bringing the work force to within one per cent of the number holding jobs a year ago.

Leaders Of Scouts To Hold Outing

BOY SCOUT leaders of the Pocono District will meet at Stroud Union High School next Wednesday night in the kick-off event of their "Safety Good Turn" project.

The meeting is called for 7:30 p.m. in the conference room. Edwin Krawitz, district chairman of health and safety will preside.

Key speakers will be Harold Seward, secretary-treasurer of the Lehigh Valley Safety Council, and Neil Ruddy, teacher in Easton High School. The former is health and safety chairman in the Sullivan Trail Scout District and Ruddy in the Blue Mountain District.

Three Groups
At 8 p.m., the leaders will meet in three separate groups to discuss specific ideas for Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers. Daniel Miller, district scout executive, said this year's project theme, "Safety Good Turn," is pegged to the conservation of human lives. It will center around three phases of safety: traffic, outdoor, and in the home and on the farm. The project is nation-wide in scope.

Luncheon Scheduled

A LUNCHEON meeting for the study of mental health, open to the public and sponsored by the Monroe County Ministerium, will be held in the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church tomorrow at noon.

Rev. Leonard Detweiler, of Philadelphia, representing the Pennsylvania Mental Health Assn. will be the speaker.

The ministers and the Monroe County Mental Health Assn. have planned this public meeting to promote a better understanding of the needs of the mentally ill and those who are moving in that direction.

Those who desire to attend the luncheon should write or phone the Presbyterian Church, Delaware Water Gap, not later than today noon.

Mrs. Carrie Nauman, 79, Dies In Scranton Hospital

MRS. CARRIE NAUMAN, 79, of 1513 Quincy Ave., Dunmore, died at Moses Taylor Hospital, Scranton, yesterday afternoon after a short illness.

Born in Gilbert, she had lived the last 32 years in Dunmore. She is survived by her husband, Otho M. Nauman; two daughters, Miss Florence Nauman and Miss Gladys Nauman, at home; and one sister, Mrs. James Smith of Allentown.

Funeral Services

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday, from the DeGraw Funeral Home in Dunmore. Interment will be in Stroudsburg's Laurelwood Cemetery.

Friends may pay their respects tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Siptroth Joins Signal Corps

TERRY SIPTROTH, son of Franklin Siptroth, 199 Grove St., East Stroudsburg, enlisted this week in the army and was assigned to signal corps. It was announced by Sgt. Donald K. Smith, local army recruiter.

Siptroth will be sent to Fort Knox, Ky. for further processing and will probably take his basic training at that post.

Sgt. Smith also stated that he will be available to answer questions at the old Acme market on Main St., Stroudsburg, today.

United States Sets New Mark

LOS ANGELES — The United States regained the world altitude record back from France with a jet flight to 91,249 feet—17.28 miles the Air Force announced yesterday.

Maj. Howard C. Johnson, 35, piloted a Lockheed F104A Starfighter up to a 45-degree angle above the Southern California desert town of Mojave to the new mark Wednesday.
